*Alterations and Additions to Part A of the Bareilly District
Gazetteer, bringing it up to date 1923-24.*

CHAPTER II.

CANALS.

From 1924 there has been no change in the area irrigated by the Rohilkhand Canals, which in the Bareilly district has remained at about 3,30,000 acres. When however, the Sarda Head Works are completed an additional area of about 1,52,000 acres will come under irrigation. The extension in this district will depend on the branch of the main Sarda Canal project known as the Sarda-Kichha feeder. This project which had been under consideration for half a century was finally designed in 1919-20, and is intended to supplement the existing Rohilkhand Canals, and to protect the whole of the Ghura-Ramganga Doab, which suffered severely in the scarcity of 1914. The project consists of a feeder which takes off from the Sarda Canal about seventh mile, and falls in the Deoha river in the Naini Tal district. This feeder will carry 1,200 cusecs, and will supplement the natural supply in the Deoha, which is inadequate during the Rabi and early Kharif. At Deoni on the Deoha will be a barrage of eleven bays each 40 feet wide, and from the Deoha thus reinforced a second feeder will carry water to the Bahgul river, which it joins just above the present Chureli dam, supplying en route additional water to the Afsarah Nadi. By this means existing supplies in the Rohilkhand Canals will be augmented, and three new systems will be fed. These systems are the Richha branch which will take water from the Bahgul at the Chureli dam, the Faridpur branch which will begin at the Girem dam on the same river, and the Shahjahanpur branch, which will take water from the increased supply in the Afsarlu Nadi at Keolaria in this district, but will chiefly benefit the Shahjahanpur district.

2. Work on the Sarda-Kichha feeder was begun in 1920 and was practically finished in 1927, but all the new channels cannot be opened for irrigation until the head works at Banbassa are complete.

3. The approximate length of new channels in the Bareilly district will be about 71 miles, and the area irrigated will be about 1,52,000 acres.

4. The following canal offices are situated in Bareilly.

(i) The Superintending Engineer's Office, V Circle.

(ii) The Head Works Division.

(iii) The Rohilkhand Canal Division.

(iv) Sarda Divisions which have been amalgamated.

The Sarda canal workshop is also situated in Bareilly, and employs about 95 men.

BANKS.

The District Co-operative Bank, Limited, has shown considerable expansion. It finances 78 societies as compared with 25 in 1914, of which 73 are agricultural and 5 non-agricultural. The capital of the bank is now Rs. 1,33,675-3-10, which bears a proportion of 3:1 to the reserve fund. Its share capital is Rs. 44,736-7-10.

2. A branch of the Imperial Bank of India was opened in 1923 in place of the defunct Alliance Bank of Simla. A new building is contemplated on the completion of which the Bank will take over the cash department of the Treasury.

CENTRAL WOOD WORKING INSTITUTE.

This institute, generally known as the carpentry school, was opened in August, 1911, under the Industries department. It was transferred to the Forest department from 1918 until April, 1923, when it was retransferred to the Industries department. The research work, which is carried on under the Wood-Technologist, includes experiments in the artificial seasoning of timber in kilns and tests designed to discover the most suitable timber for jute-bobbins and similar articles, for railway requirements and for many minor products. The institute also aims at imparting technical and practical training to boys in many different branches, such as cabinet-making, joinery, machine tool-making, painting, polishing and upholstery. A hostel is attached to the institute with accommodation for over 100 students.

INDIAN WOOD PRODUCTS Co., LTD.

This company was registered in 1919 with an authorized capital of Rs. 15,00,000, of which Rs. 12,00,000 has been issued. Its object is to manufacture the extracts catechu (cutch) and catechin (katha) by modern machinery. Considerable expense was incurred in the early stages in conducting experiments, which could not be immediately profitable, but by 1925 sufficient profit had been made to repay loans, and the prospects are now good. About 300 men are employed at the factory at Izatnagar and its requirements are sufficient to provide work in the forests for six months of the year for about 1,500 men. The managing agents are Messrs. Gillanders Arbuthnot and Company with offices at 8, Clive Street, Calcutta.

CENTRIFUGAL PLANTS TO EXTRACT SUGAR.

A number of centrifugal plants have been installed by the Khandasaris of the city

The match factory has been abandoned.

MARKETS.

In 1925 a new vegetable and grain market under the name of Oppenheimganj was opened through the exertions of Babu Kekai Nandan Sahai.

BRIDGES.

The old masonry bridge at Fatehganj East, which had been destroyed by floods has been replaced by a new reinforced concrete bridge which was opened for traffic in 1925.

In place of the old bridge over the Pangauli on the Pilibhit road, which was destroyed by floods, another reinforced concrete bridge has been built and was opened in October 1916.

CLUTTERBUCKGANJ.

In 1918 Government acquired parts of the villages of Khalilpur, Simana and Budholi, situated about the fifth mile-stone from Bareilly along the Moradabad metalled road. On this land were erected a "Rosin" and "Turpentine Distillery" and a "Sawmill and Turncry Factory" together with a number of bungalows for the superior staff, a model village for clerks and artisans, a hospital and post and telegraph office and a police outpost.

Railway communication was provided by a metre-gauge siding, some five miles long to the Izatnagar station of the E. & K. Railway and a short broad gauge siding to the adjoining station of the E. I. Railway.

The water-supply is provided by two large tube-wells and is laid on to all the main buildings. The factories also generate their own electric supply for power and lighting.

The estate was subsequently renamed "Clutterbuckganj" after Sir Peter Clutterbuck, C.I.E., C.B.E., Inspector-General of Forests, who was for several years Chief Conservator of Forests in the United Provinces and was largely responsible for the progressive policy, which resulted in these undertakings. The E. I. Railway station name was at the same time changed from Maheshpur Ataria to Clutterbuckganj.

The Rosin and Turpentine Factory was the first enterprise started here. It replaced the old factory at Bhawali in the Naini Tal district, which, working day and night during the War, was not only out of date but completely worn out.

The buildings are to the design of Mr. H. Benson, then manager of the factory. The plant is based on the plans of M. Bopar of Bordeaux, but was made and set up by Messrs. Richardson and Cruddas of Bombay under great difficulty owing to the war conditions. The work of the plant has steadily improved and the quality of the manufactured products is excellent. Close touch has been kept with the Jallo Rosin Factory of the Punjab and these two factories have not only succeeded in replacing imported rosin and turpentine by the Indian article but have initiated a considerable export trade. The Clutterbuckganj factory is one of the finest in the world and is capable of manufacturing annually over 1,00,000 maunds of rosin and 2,40,000 gallons of turpentine, while the spacious lay-out is such that extensions can easily be made.

The sawmill and turnery was started shortly after the rosin factory to help market the lesser known timbers of the United Provinces forests and to demonstrate on a commercial basis some of their uses. It incorporated an existing sawmill that had proved very useful and profitable at Sitapur during the War. A complete wood turnery plant for making bobbins, picking arms and other machine turned goods, such as tool handles, was bought from Surat and installed here.

It was hoped to replace imported articles by bobbins made in India by Indian labour and of Indian woods. Up to September 1923, these activities were controlled by the Utilisation Circle of the United Provinces Forest department. The Utilisation Circle then included the Government Central Wood Working Institute, where in addition to educational activities, the experimental work on the use of United Provinces timbers was carried out. This institution has since been transferred to the Industries department. Discussions in the Legislative Council and criticisms of the high capital expenditure involved in the Clutterbuckganj undertakings resulted in the transfer of the factories to a syndicate which floated two companies, the Indian Turpentine and Rosin Company and Indian Bobbin Company. The companies were distinct although the directorates were in close touch.

Unfortunately, the difficulty of finding timber suitable for the manufacture of bobbins proved insuperable and the Bobbin Company has gone into liquidation. The work of the Sawmill, however, continues and at the beginning of 1928 was controlled by the Turpentine company.

CHAPTER III.

CENSUS.

During the period of 40 years preceding the census operations in 1911, the population of the district rose from 10,15,041 to 10,94,663. In the decade that followed it fell to 10,18,875. The decrease was common to all districts in the division and the chief cause was undoubtedly the influenza epidemic of 1918.

The only noticeable change in the condition of various classes is that several non-agricultural castes such as Mahajans, Banias and others are holding more land as proprietors than they did before. The increase which in some cases goes up to 39 per cent. is the result of a slowly continuing process.

CHAPTER IV.

GARRISON.

The Bareilly Garrison now consists of 1 Battalion British Infantry, 1 Battery Royal Field Artillery, 1 Battalion Indian Regiment and 2 Mechanical Transport Companies.

In 1924 the Cantonment Act was brought into force. The administration is now carried on by a board consisting of seven elected and seven nominated members, with the Officer Commanding the Bareilly Brigade as president. The executive officer of the cantonment board having been divested of judicial powers, the judicial work formerly done by the Cantonment Magistrate is now done by the civil and criminal courts of the district.

CHANGES IN TAHSILS.

The most important change is the abolition of Mirganj tahsil in April, 1925. Nine villages were transferred to Aonla, 18 to Baheri, and 136 to the Bareilly tahsil. There are now only 5 tahsils in Bareilly.

As a result of the reorganisation of patwaris circles, there has been a reduction of 67 patwaris, the present strength being 608.

CHANGES IN THE NUMBER AND JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURTS.

Since 1914 several changes have been introduced in the number and jurisdiction of civil courts and offices. The Aonla-Faridpur Munsifi was abolished in 1914 and the work was entrusted to the City Munsiff's Court. A separate Small Cause Court was re-established in August, 1924.

Pilibhit which used to be under the civil and criminal jurisdiction of the Bareilly judgship was in 1915 separated from Bareilly and combined with the Kumaun judgship.

POLICE FORCE.

The police station Fatehganj West was abolished in 1923. The old outposts at Bhnur in Police Station Kotwali, Bajarganj in Killa, Sadar Bazar in Cantonments, and Killa in Aonla were abolished in 1922 and two new outposts were established at Clutterbuckganj and Izatnagar. Constables were replaced by village chowkidars at Nawabganj, Fatehganj, Shahi, Sirauli, Shishgarh and Faridpur. Town chowkidars at Senthai, Richha and Sheopuri were replaced by village chowkidars. The strength of village chowkidars was reduced from 2,199 to 981 in 1924 as a measure of economy. The strength of the provincial police was revised in 1924 and the table in the appendix gives the details.

The old Kotwali building was abandoned as it was deemed unsafe. The old Normal School is being utilised until the new building begun in 1926 is ready.

EXCISE.

In accordance with the general excise reforms the old contract system was replaced by the surcharge system in 1922. A licensing board was constituted for the municipality and controls the city. In 1926 the sealed bottle system was introduced for the supply of country liquor in the city. The rural shops are still under the direct control of the Collector, assisted by the District Advisory Committee.

REGISTRATION.

Pilibhit has been formed into a separate Registration district since April, 1922, under the Subordinate Judge of Pilibhit.

INCOME-TAX.

As a result of the re-organisation introduced in 1920, the district authorities have now little to do with income-tax administration. The Bareilly district with those of Budaun, Naini Tal and Almora forms a circle under the control of an income-tax officer and two additional officers.

POST OFFICES.

Four new post offices have been opened at Bhur, Bamanpuri, Bareilly railway station and Inayatganj in Bareilly City and four new rural post offices at Dhaneta, Dhaunra, Tisua and Sahora.

TELEPHONE.

The post office telephone system was installed in September 1922, and Bareilly is now connected with Delhi, Meerut, Lucknow, Agra, Allahabad and Naini Tal.

MUNICIPALITIES.

The changes introduced by the Municipalities Act II of 1916 appear from the details to be found in the table in the appendix. A Health Officer was appointed in 1912. Compulsory Primary education was introduced in 1923. A city expansion scheme is being developed.

DISTRICT BOARD.

The District Boards Act of 1923 effected changes in the constitution of the Board, which will appear from the table in the appendix. The Board has now a non-official elected chairman. The Board has suffered from financial stringency, which has rendered development difficult. There has been some progress in education and a list of the schools maintained or aided by the District Board will be found in a table in the appendix.

NOTIFIED AREA.

The elective principle has been introduced in the Notified Area at Aonla. The Committee consist of four elected and one nominated member. It elects its own chairman subject to the approval of the Commissioner.

TOWN AREA.

Baheri ceased to be a town area in 1919-20; the number of town areas is now nine. Each has but one nominated member, the others being all elected. The tahsildar is the town magistrate of each town area in his jurisdiction. A list of town areas with the number of seats and voters is given in the table in the appendix.

PANCHAYATS.

As a result of the passing of the United Provinces Village Panchayat Act in 1923, there are 127 panchayats working in the district, many with credit to themselves. They dispose of petty civil and criminal cases. A list of the panchayats by tahsils is given in the appendix.

BAREILLY COLLEGE.

The Bareilly College though handicapped by financial stringency has developed in various directions. The staff has been strengthened and classes for the B. Sc. and for the Commercial Diploma were opened in 1925. The construction of a new science block, in memory of the late Brij Mohan Lal, a rais of Bareilly, was begun in 1926. It has been built by his widows at an approximate cost of Rs. 14,000. In 1924 an appeal was launched to raise a fund for the purposes of extension. The disastrous floods of 1924 checked the flow of contributions but renewed efforts were made in 1925. The response has not been as liberal as was hoped but sufficient funds had been raised by March, 1926, to provide the necessary equipment for the new classes and to make some addition to the endowments. The college still needs support from Rohilkhand if it is to fill its proper place in the division.

DISPENSARIES.

The McNair Debidas Dispensary was opened at Dunka in 1921-22. An Aonla female dispensary was opened in 1919. A district board travelling dispensary was maintained from 1915 to 1923.

The Forest dispensary at Maheshpur Attaria was opened in 1919 and was sold in 1923 to the Syndicate which took over the factories at Clutterbuckganj. Reference may be made to the table in the appendix for a list of dispensaries in the district. The Municipal Board maintains free Ayurvedic and Unani dispensaries in the city.

MATERNITY INSTITUTE.

A child and maternity institute was opened in 1922 mainly by the exertions of Mrs. Stubbs after whom it is named. It is doing useful work in the city. The affairs of the society are managed by a council of 11 persons with Mrs. Stubbs as president and the Medical Officer of Health as its secretary. The staff consists of a lady doctor of the grade of assistant surgeon, another of the grade of sub-assistant surgeon, and five trained nurses. There are besides a number of daies who attend the institute for purposes of training. These average 22 in number.

Considerable grants-in-aid have been received from the Red Cross which provided funds for the building and has given other assistance, and also by Government. The Municipal Board also makes an annual grant which was increased in 1926 to Rs. 1,500. The staff yearly attend over 1,500 cases of child-birth or more than one-third of the cases in the city. The reduction in mortality among mothers has been most gratifying. In 1925 only two mothers died out of 1,299 attended. The reduction in infant mortality has so far not been so marked. The original staff was only sufficient to attend maternity cases for ten days after delivery but the addition of a second lady doctor has made it possible to give some assistance during the first year of an infant's life. Funds are urgently needed to provide a permanent endowment. Few charitable institutions have a greater claim on the generosity of Bareilly by reason whether of the excellence of the objects, the success accomplished or the economy with which results have been attained.

BACTERIOLOGICAL LABORATORY AT IZATNAGAR.

A branch laboratory was opened at Izatnagar for serum manufacture. Its main function is to relieve the parent laboratory at Muktesar of as large a portion as possible of the routine work of serum manufacture. The sanction of Government was obtained for the commencement of operations at Izatnagar in 1922. The Kargena site, where a small station had been opened for experimental research in 1902, was sold by auction through the district authorities as the site was too restricted for the work and in dangerous proximity to the main thoroughfare. The only permanent buildings now erected on the Izatnagar site are certain residential quarters and the housing of animals is effected by the erection of temporary straw choppers. A scheme for the economic development of the laboratory is under consideration. The laboratory is in charge of a veterinary officer who supervises the manufacture of serum and work of inoculating against rinderpest.

Alterations and Additions to Part A of the Bijnor District Gazetteer, during 1911—'21.

1.—CANALS.

Improvements were confined chiefly to headworks.

The Nagina Canal.—The supply channel leading to the Pilkana was remodelled in 1911 at a cost of Rs. 20,527. The canal obtains its supply from the Sukk Rao and Khoh rivers; the headworks on the former were raised to give better control and were generally modernised in 1913 at a cost of Rs. 17,000 on the Khoh, new permanent headworks have been completed in 1921, replacing the former system of temporary bundhs and rendering it possible to control the river at all seasons of the year. These headworks cost Rs. 2,23,287 and consist of an open weir 628' long with three 20' span undersluices on its right flank and a regulator at the head of the supply-channel.

The Nihour Canal.—The headworks of this canal have been improved by the substitution of roller sluice gates in place of falling shutters in join of the bays of the regulator controlling the Gangan river. Better control over the regulation of the flow has been obtained.

Canal rates will shortly be increased to cover the greater cost of maintenance due to the rise in the cost of labour and material and to meet the interest charges on improvements carried out.

The rates at present in force since 1882 are shown along with the rates shortly to be introduced :—

2.—CATTLE CENSUS.

The cattle census was done during 1327 Fasli (1919-20). The number of bullocks and bulls was 214,734 as against 214,682 in 1316 Fasli, and 13,165 male buffaloes against 13,519 in 1316 Fasli giving a total of 227,899 against 228,201 in 1316 fasli, an average of 2·80 per plough as compared with 2·75 in 1316 Fasli. The number of cows and she-buffaloes decreased during the decade from 129,244 and 45,721 to 123,678 and 44,514 respectively and the number of young stock from 171,158 to 160,263.

The number of sheep and goats again decreased considerably from 53,965 and 49,555 in 1316 Fasli, to 45,742 and 25,527 respectively. There was a decrease in the number of horses and ponies from 8,603 to 7,885 and in that of mules from 2,003 to 1,295. The number of carts decreased during the decade from 45,661 to 45,236.

No addition in the number of veterinary assistants was made.

3.—HEALTH AND DISEASE.

The health of the district was generally good except in 1918 when the Influenza epidemic occurred. The percentage of deaths from fever was high. Plague was severe in 1915 but disappeared after 1919.

The average of deaths from Cholera rose from 606 to 629 per annum, the years 1914, 1916, and 1921 were particularly bad. Otherwise this disease was only present in a mild form.

Small-pox was severe only in 1913 and 1914; no cases occurred in 1918 and other years show but few cases. The average number of vaccinations for small-pox during the last ten years ending with 1921-22 has increased to 27,917 from 23,298, the previous average of five years. The salaries of vaccinators were again raised in 1921.

4.—SANITATION.

Sanitation received growing attention in the decade.

Dhampur.—The drainage scheme prepared by the Sanitary Engineer at an estimated cost of Rs. 76,000 was taken in hand by the Public Works department under the direction of the Sanitary Engineer; up to 1917 one-third was completed at a cost of Rs. 25,000 which included a grant of Rs. 20,000 from the sanitary board. Owing to lack of funds the remainder of the scheme was dropped.

The Markhamganj courtyard was paved in 1915 at a initial cost of Rs. 12,603, half being contributed by the Government. The sanitary condition of the Ganj has been much improved.

Bijnor.—A drainage and flushing scheme costing over 1½ lakhs is in contemplation but it will have to wait owing to financial stringency. A large tank in the abadi has been almost filled up.

Chandpur.—The Municipal Board have spent roughly Rs. 20,000 in sanitary improvements and upkeep of roads. Other improvements are under consideration which will cost over Rs. 45,000 but funds are not at present available.

Najibabad.—The Municipality has spent about Rs. 15,000 in sanitary improvements and upkeep of roads. The board propose improving the drainage and sinking tube wells for a better water-supply when funds are available.

Nagina.—The Municipality has spent about Rs. 16,000 in sanitary improvements during this period.

A sewerage and drainage improvement scheme wholly financed by the Government was taken in hand and is about to be completed.

Two other schemes are under contemplation but cannot be undertaken for want of funds at present :—

(1) Drainage improvement scheme at an estimated cost of Rs. 59,662.

(2) Construction of a meat and vegetable market to cost Rs. 12,000.

Afzalgarh.—Protective works against the erosion of the river Amla which has been scouring the north face of Afzalgarh town were completed in 1913 under the charge of the Irrigation department and the cost was met from a special grant of Rs. 7,300 made by the Government for the purpose. The bed of the Nachna has also been cleaned and this has been an important sanitary improvement to the town.

Act XX Towns.—The nine Town Areas of the district spent about Rs. 70,000 in sanitary improvements, such as construction of Khranjas, slaughter-houses, wells and latrines.

Rural sanitation.—The scheme outlined in G. O. no, 717/IX—112, dated October 29, 1912, for the improvement of rural sanitation was carried out in the following 18 villages in 1912-13:—Banhera, Sahanpur, Nagal, Jalabad, Behar, Kot Kadir, Tanda Maidas, Kasimpur Garhi, Nindru, Morna, Nurpur, Tajpur, Asgaripur, Pheona, Sahaspur, Mohammadpur Deomal, Inampura and Siao. The selection of the villages was based on their size, on the need for some sort of sanitation however primitive, and on the willingness of the people to work the scheme. A grant of Rs. 50 to each village supplemented by local subscriptions which in some villages were considerable, formed the basis of sanitary works such as cleaning and repairing of wells, the filling up of insanitary hollows, construction of simple absorption pits, etc. Five more villages were added to under this scheme in 1913-14 namely Barampur, Chitawar, Puraini, Raipur, Sadat and Gohawar.

Village punchayats are the bodies to whom the Board of Public Health grants money for rural sanitation.

5.—ANTI-MALARIAL OPERATIONS IN NAGINA.

Nagina has long enjoyed an unenviable reputation for Malaria, and the Special Malaria Officer made an elaborate investigation into the cause of Malaria and the general unhealthiness of the town. In consequence of his recommendations, it was proposed to prohibit irrigation from the canal as well as rice cultivation within half a mile of the inhabited site and to fill up the tanks and borrow-pits which had been found to be the most fertile places for mosquito-breeding. As a necessary corollary to this, fresh excavations for house-building and brick-making were to be prohibited within one mile of the town.

This report was considered by a Committee consisting of the Sanitary Commissioner, the Sanitary Engineer, the Executive Engineer of the Rohilkhand Canals, and the Collector of Bijnor which met at Nagina in 1912. It was decided to prohibit rice cultivation within half a mile of the inhabited area and also to prohibit fresh excavation within one mile of the same. To achieve these objects, the municipal board has decided to extend the present municipal boundaries so as to make them coincide with the half-mile sanitary boundary line. The Committee advocated five methods of dealing with the tanks:—(1) To fill some of the tanks completely; (2) to partly fill and to partly drain them by means of two cuts, called the north and south cuts into the existing drainage channels the Karula and the Pandhoi rivers; (3) where complete drainage was not possible to drain as low as possible and then to deepen the tank in the centre, thus avoiding shallow sloping banks by placing earth on the sides; (4) where draining was not possible at all to deepen the tank, placing the material on the sides; (5) where none of these was possible, to fill the tank with town rubbish; under this scheme the canal is flushed weekly and 21 tanks have been filled up at the cost to Government of Rs. 25,000. The land was returned to the original owners on payment to Government of the amount incurred in filling them.

The Board of Public Health in their no. 169/B.P. H. of February 11, 1919, sanctioned a grant of Rs. 1,990 for filling in the sweeper's tank and the work is in progress.

The scheme has not yet been sufficiently carried out to effect any marked improvement.

6.—EPIDEMICS.

The plague was only severe in 1915 and was absent in 1920 and 1921.

Influenza raged virulently in 1918 and was responsible for the abnormal death rate in that year. Every effort was made to cope with the disease. Influenza cases received special treatment in dispensaries and vaccinators were utilized to distribute medicine in villages.

Local Hakims and Vaidas were engaged by municipal boards and distributed medicine gratis at the expense of the boards. Leaflets containing directions about the prevention and treatment of influenza were also distributed free.

7.—CULTIVATION AND IRRIGATION.

During the decade, the cultivated area decreased more especially in the jungle parganas of Najibabad, Barhapura, and Afzalgarh. The precarious mahals of Mandewar have shown no signs of change. The average cultivated area of the decade ending 1921-22 is 6,58,155 or 57·31 per cent. of the total area, or, excluding the forest area a little above 60 per cent. The average was, however, lowered by the adverse conditions of 1326 Fasli when a large area remained uncultivated owing to the ravages of influenza and drought.

During the decade the cultivated area always remained more than that in 1911-12 (1319 Fasli) a year of unusually low figures. There were marked decreases in the cultivated area of the following parganas wherein the percentage of cultivated to total area is as noted :—

Bashta	60·98
Najibabad	30·53
Barhapura	24·57
Afzalgarh	37·15

Chandpur and Burhpur parganas had the best percentages of 79. The percentages are based on last year's figures and hence are not typical of the whole decade as the figures for the last year were lower than in many of the previous years.

The figures given in the appendix are for 1329 Fasli, but the record cultivated area was in 1322 Fasli. The average figures of rabi and kharif area for the ten years ending 1329 Fasli are 309,232 and 439,722 acres respectively. During the decade the irrigated area has slightly increased. The percentage of irrigated land watered from canals is 50·14, from wells 37·44, and from streams and other sources 12·42 per cent.

8.—PRECARIOUS TRACTS IN MANDAWAR.

This pargana contains a large tract of Khader lands which are by nature precarious. Precarious tracts comprised Barkhurdarpur in circle I, 22 villages in circle II, Mohammad Alipur Manshah, Mohsinpur, Makaramatpur in circle III, and the whole of circles IV and V.

From 1319 to 1329 Fasli, Barkhurdarpur villages in circle no. I has shown an improvement in total rental but not in cultivated area. In 1319 Fasli it had a cultivated area of 144 acres, as in 1329 Fasli, but the rental demand rose from 605 to 851 rupees.

In circle II Shorampur, Dayalwala, Mirgipur, and Sehora-Nizamabad villages out of 22 precarious villages have shown great improvement during the period from 1319 Fasli to 1329 Fasli; Shorampur in 1319 Fasli had a cultivated area of 202 acres and in 1329 Fasli, of 191 acres. In spite of the decrease in the area, rental demand rose from Rs. 521 in 1319 Fasli to Rs. 1,057 in 1329 Fasli. The remaining 18 villages of circle II have improved both in area and in the total rental. The rate of incidence per acre has risen from 2.58 to 5.53.

In circle III, Mohammad Ali Pur Manshah has, however, shown a decrease in rental, though in 1319 Fasli it had a cultivated area of 192 acres as compared with 215 acres in 1329 Fasli. Total rental decreased from Rs. 2,003 to Rs. 1,544 in 1329 Fasli.

In circle IV Abu Sayedpur and Fatehpur Sabha Chand out of 15 precarious villages have shown a considerable improvement in area as well as in the total rental during the period 1319-1329 Fasli.

Hirdey-Rampur Khaddar has shown a slight decrease but the others have shown improvement. They are not affected by the fluvial action of the Ganges.

The villages of circle V lie in the khadir and are subject to fluvial action. In 1329 Fasli, Ajmanpur, Asokheri Sukhdeopur Kharak, and Abu-Talibpur suffered loss of area. The remaining khadir villages are improving. Sultanpur Khaddar, had a cultivated area of 192 acres in 1319 Fasli which in 1329 Fasli rose to 851 acres and the total rental rose from Rs. 464 to Rs. 4,710.

On the whole, these precarious tracts show much improvement.

9.—FAMINE.

The district fortunately escaped famine during the decade.

10.—MARKETS AND TRADE.

Chandpur is now established as a trade centre and will benefit by the sanctioned railway extension Chandpur-Bijnor-Chandok which is expected to be undertaken soon.

Kiratpur remains a flourishing mart.

At Dhampur, Markhamganj has been paved and this town is now the leading centre for the sugar trade in which Nagina has declined in consequence.

The Hadi process sugar factory at Bijnor proved a failure.

The use of small oil engines especially for grinding flour has become very popular in the district.

11.—ROADS.

The Seohara-Tajpur road (metalled) has been further extended to Chandpur but it is in poor order. The mileage of local metalled roads has increased from 49 miles 5.97 furlongs to 70 miles. The 2nd class Bijnor-Najibabad road is still unmetalled owing to the cost having risen to prohibitive limits. The mileage of 2nd class and 4th class unmetalled local roads fell from 2118 miles 4 furlongs and 352 miles 7 furlongs to 114 miles 2 furlongs and 336 miles 5 furlongs respectively.

There has been no change in the mileage of 6th class roads.

12.—RAILWAYS.

The Gajraula-Chandpur branch line opened in 1911 has placed the south-western parganas within reach of the railway.

An extension from Chandpur via Bijnor to Chandak is projected and should open up the west of the district.

Bijnor still remains one of the few district headquarters not connected with a railway.

13.—CENSUS, 1921.

The census of 1921 showed a decrease of 66,020, equal to 8.19 per cent. in the population; the total number of persons were 740,182 as against 806,202 in 1911. The average density of population is 414 per square mile as against 429 in 1911. Nagina, Najibabad, and Bijnor are homogeneous and have a density of between 300 and 400 per square mile. The density of population in the Dhampur tahsil is now 550. The percentages of births was 42·6 and that of deaths 45·4; deaths exceeded births by 22,841. The natural population decreased by 105,478 and the actual population by 66,020. Immigration has increased but is not very extensive, the figures for 1921 being 39,458, while those for 1911 were 34,301. Apparently there has been little emigration from this district.

The district has one of the healthiest climates in the province. Like others, the district suffered severely in the influenza epidemic of 1918 (the death rate being 9·96). The plague has been non-existent during the last two years; malaria is more prevalent in the submontane parganas.

The distribution of population among the various main religions as below per 10,000 of population.

			1921.	1911.
Hindus	6,178	6,811
Muhammadans	3,585	3,479
Christians	22	35
Aryas	211	115

In the B volume of the Gazetteer for 1911, the number per 10,000 of population for Aryas and Christians should have been shown as respectively 115 and 35 and not vice versa.

Aryas have thus increased and Christians decreased considerably in the decade.

Hindus have decreased slightly but Muhammadans have increased slightly.

14.—POPULATION BY THANAS, TABLE II.

Thanas remain the same as in 1911.

Under the new scheme, it is proposed to reduce the Rehar thana. The main decreases in population of the various thanas have occurred in Afzalgarh 25 per cent., Barhapura 21 per cent., Rehar 18 per cent., and Amhera 17 per cent.

The first two are malarious and situated in the submontane tract.

15.—LEADING LAND-OWNERS.

Sahanpur estate.—After the death of Rai Aftab Jung and Rai Baldeo Jung, the estate has gone to their uncle Raja Rai Bharat Singh, O.B.E. The widows of Rai Aftab Jung and Baldeo Jung are receiving handsome maintenance allowances from the estate. The estate is well managed and is in a very good condition.

Raja F. X. Shiam Rikh of Tajpur is now leading a retired life. He has four sons :—

1. Kunwar Vishwa Nath Rikh.
2. Kunwar Jaswant Rikh.
3. Kunwar Tirloki Nath Rikh.
4. Kunwar Madho Rikh.

The Raja has kept apart a portion of the estate known as "settled estate" yielding an annual income of about Rs. 15,000. This settled estate will remain in possession of the son of the Raja who succeeds him. The remaining estate has been divided in four equal shares, one of which is in possession of the Raja and the other three shares have gone to three elder sons. The youngest Kunwar Madho Rikh gets an allowance of Rs. 600 a month from the Raja and his elder brothers. The estate of the Raja is managed by Chaudhary Gopi Nath Singh, his sister's son.

The younger brother of the Raja, Kunwar Sheo Nath Rikh, died in 1922. He had two wives, one an Indian lady of Taga family and the other an European lady named Marie Lily Rikh. He had two sons from his first wife :—

Kunwar Hari Nath Rikh,

Kunwar August Rikh,

and seven sons and two daughters from the second wife. Kunwar Sheo Nath Rikh divided the whole estate into three equal shares, of which two shares went to his two sons by his first wife and the third share was kept by him for himself. Kunwar August Rikh died in the life-time of his father and the estate of his widow and son is being managed by Kunwar A. Narad Rikh, the eldest son of Kunwar Sheo Nath Rikh by his second wife. After the death of Kunwar Sheo Nath Rikh his share of the estate went to his second wife in accordance with a will left by the deceased. The sons are getting personal allowances and the estate is being managed by Kunwar A. Narad Rikh

Of the sons of Raja Jagat Singh, Kunwar Randhir Singh died on December 30, 1907 and was succeeded by his widow Kunwar Rani M. L. Hira Devi and Kunwar Digvijai Singh died in 1923 and was succeeded by his son Kunwar Jasjit Singh. The estate of Kunwar Jasjit Singh is under the management of the Court of Wards.

Haldour estate.—Raja Harbans Singh died on April 4, 1909. The estate is now in the possession of his surviving widow Rani Bibi Kunwar. Kr. Tejbal Bikram Singh, who claimed to be the next reversioner to the estate, died in October, 1926, leaving a son Kunwar Ram Singh and a minor grandson. The estate is being managed by the relations of the Rani.

The Sherkot estate.—The property of late Rai Bahadur Chaudhari Ranjit Singh is in the possession of his widow Rani Phul Kunwari. The costly and exhausting litigation between the Rani and Thakur Suraj Singh and Dalip Singh who claimed to be the legitimate sons of late Rai Bahadur Chaudhari Ranjit Singh has come to an end, and the boys are now getting personal allowances of Rs. 400 a month each from the estate.

The Sheohara estate.—The estate of Rai Bahadur Chaudhari Param Singh and his cousin Chaudhari Raghu Raj Singh, son of Rai Bahadur Chaudhari Basant Singh is a joint estate with Rai Bahadur Chaudhari Param Singh as the head of the family. It is solvent and is in a flourishing condition.

The Rehar estate.—Babu Lakhan Singh of Rehar died on December 19, 1911, leaving four minor sons and a heavy debt to repay. The estate was taken over under the management of the Court of Wards. Babu Thakur Prasad Singh and Har Prasad Singh, the elder sons of Babu Lakhan Singh, have received training in estate management under the Court of Wards and have now attained majority. They are quite capable of managing the estate and it is hoped the estate will shortly be released. It is now free from debts.

The Siau estate.—Chaudhri Budh Singh of Siau died on April 12, 1913, leaving a son Chaudhri Nau Bahar Singh to succeed. Chaudhri Parvin Singh, Chaudhrai Ajodhia Kunwar, and Chaudhrai Krishna Kunwari belonging to the same family are managing their own shares of the estate separately.

Sahu Har Prasad—Of Najibabad died on November 27, 1921, leaving three sons. The eldest son Sahu Bhagwati Prasad is an Honorary Magistrate and is managing the estate left by his father. The estate is in a flourishing condition.

Rai Bahadur Soti Harbans Lal—Of Bijnor died on May 29, 1919 and Khan Bahadur Syed Turab Ali of Mandawar on October 21, 1921.

Syed Mir Ali Ali—Of Nagina died on August 30, 1914 and his estate was divided half between his two sons Syed Ali Imran and Syed Musi Imran and the second half among his four daughters. Syed Ali Imran is a lunatic and his estate is under the management of the Court of Wards.

The Muftis of Kiratpur—Of the Kiratpur landholders Mufti Ibrahim Husain died on February 11, 1913, Khan Batadur M. Ahmad Husain Khan on March 21, 1921, and M. Tasaduq Husain on November 9, 1921 and M. Ibn Hasan on February 9, 1920. The Mufti with the exception of one or two are now under heavy debts.

16.—DISTRICT STAFF.

There has been no change in the sanctioned strength of the district staff, which consists of four full-powered sub-divisional officers and one 1st class Assistant Collector and as well as a treasury officer. At present one full-powered Assistant Collector is posted extra to the district. Litigation continues to increase and all have their time fully occupied.

The Munsif's court at Dhampur contemplated at the time of the last report has not been established.

17.—DISTRIBUTION OF POLICE.

The town areas have been relieved of police charges and their resources are now only available for sanitary improvements. Since 1917, there has been a redistribution of police with an increase as follows :—

Designation.	Number increased.
1. Head constables	4
2. Naiks	4
3. Constables	80

Due to retrenchment, 158 village chaukidars in the district were reduced in 1923. Circles of chaukidars have been revised and one chaukidar in many cases has now been posted to keep watch and ward over two or three villages.

Municipal town and road police no longer exists in the district. These were abolished long ago.

18.—EXCISE.

The contract system remained in force throughout the district up to the year 1921-22 and worked satisfactorily.

Under the recommendations of the Provincial Excise Committee appointed in 1921, the change of system was effected from April, 1, 1922 and the graduated surcharge system was substituted for the auction system of licensing of shops.

Drastic changes ensued in the Excise Administration under the new system.

Applications are invited and the shops are settled with persons, who are selected.

They have to pay licence fee in arrear, during each calendar month graduated on the issues made to each shop during the preceding month. Hours of sale of various excisable commodities have been curtailed. The retail prices were fixed at Rs. 2-4 per bottle of country spirit, Rs. 100 per seer of opium and charas, and Rs. 2-8 per seer of bhang. In case of opium and charas the retail prices have been raised to Rs. 120 per seer from the years 1923-24 and 1924-25 respectively. The liquor shops are closed on the day following the burning of Holi. The issue strength of country spirit has been reduced from 25 U. P. to 35 U. P. The District and Municipal Excise Advisory Committees have been formed to consider the number and location of excise shops in their respective areas. The number of shops for the sale of excisable commodities has been reduced. The excise shops at fairs have been closed.

The system has so far worked well. It is preferred by vendors, as there is no speculation and the profit is sure and regular. The special feature of the system is that it has created a desire among men of position and capital to take excise shops. On the other hand, it is not without disadvantages when the same shop is given to the same man year after year and vested interest is created.

There are three bonded warehouses in the district at Bijnor, Dhampur, and Najibabad. They are used both for the storage of country spirit and drugs.

The co-operative company of Saharanpur distillers holds the contract for the supply of country spirit to all the three bonded warehouses in the district. The contract for the supply of drugs (charas at Rs. 5-8 per seer, bhang at annas 6 per seer) was held by Lala Narsingh Dass for the years 1922-23 and 1923-24. L. Munshi Lal of Khurja was granted the contract for supply of drugs for three years from 1924-25 to 1926-27 at the rate of Rs. 3-14 per seer of charas and 4 annas per seer of bhang.

There were three Excise Inspectors up to the year 1923-24 and their jurisdictions were as under :—

Headquarters of Excise Inspectors.		Circle.		Bonded warehouse.
1. Bijnor	Bijnor tahsil	..	Bijnor.
2. Najibabad	Najibabad tahsil	..	Najibabad and Dhampur.
3. Nagina	Dhampur and Nagina tahsils.	..	Nil.

Nagina circle was abolished from the year 1924-25 and the circles are now divided as below :—

Headquarters of Excise Inspectors		Circle.		Bonded warehouse.
Bijnor	Bijnor and Nagina tahsils	..	Bijnor.
Najibabad	Najibabad and Dhampur tahsils	..	Najibabad and Dhampur.

Excise Inspectors work under the directions of the Assistant Excise Commissioner with headquarters at Saharanpur.

They have also to carry out any orders from the Collector of the district.

The duties on excisable commodities have been greatly raised during the decade.

At present they are as under :—

			Rs. a.
Country spirit	6 12 per gallon of 35 U. P.
Charas	56 2 per seer.
Bhang	0 12 "
Opium	70 0 " (duty and price).

The consumption of country spirit, opium, and drugs decreased considerably in 1920-21 on account of the influence of non-co-operation movement. Since then it has been steadily decreasing and is chiefly due to high retail prices.

The district Joint Excise and Police Conference were started in 1912 to meet twice annually. They proved of no use and they are no longer held.

19.—STAMPS.

Under the recent orders of the Board of Revenue, stamps are directly supplied to outlying tahsils by the Controller of Stamps, Calcutta, with a resultant saving in the cartage charges from headquarters to the different tahsils.

The receipts from stamps, judicial and otherwise, continue to rise. The average during the last five years has risen to Rs. 2,73,052 as against Rs. 1,96,495 shown in the last report. During the period 1912-13 to 1921-22 the annual income has always exceeded two lakhs, and during 1921-22, it was so much as Rs. 2,88,081. The average receipts from court-fee and copy stamps during the last five years have risen to Rs. 2,14,206, the highest receipts being Rs. 2,30,431 in 1921-22. Since 1915-16, the annual receipts from this source have exceeded two lakhs except in 1918-19 when they were Rs. 1,97,527. The decrease was due to the influenza epidemic. The increase is due partly to the enhancement in the fees.

20.—INCOME-TAX.

The department is now under an income-tax officer who is in charge of two districts, Bijnor and Moradabad, with headquarters at the latter station. He is directly under the Income-tax Commissioner.

The income-tax officer now makes all assessments and realisations are made through tahsildars. Incomes below Rs. 2,000 are now exempt, hence the number of assesseees in 1921-22 was only 348 as against 969 in 1918-19. The average income from this source during the last three years is Rs. 49,076, the highest figure was Rs. 74,805 during 1920-21 as against Rs. 57,566 in 1918-19.

Under the present system, assessment is not made by tahsils, but an alphabetical list of all assesseees is kept up for the whole district.

21.—MUNICIPALITIES.

The five municipalities of the district all now have elected non-official chairmen.

The tax on circumstances and property which replaced octroi in 1912 in all municipalities is still in force except in Bijnor. The tax has proved very unpopular and is not properly assessed in practice and the remaining municipalities are proposing to revert to octroi.

The rates of taxation have changed and are at present as follows :—

Rates.	Chandpur.	Nagina.	Dhampur.	Najibabad.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Exempt up to one rupee per head	99	119	75	100
Rs. 1-9 per cent ..	100—120	..	76—150	101—120

22.—EDUCATION.

A marked advance has been made in education during the decade. Nearly a hundred new schools have been opened, while 46 old schools which were doing badly have been abolished.

Training schools for teachers have been started in five centres.

Owing to the rise in the cost of living, the pay of teachers has been raised to nearly double that in 1911. The inspecting staff has been strengthened by the appointment of a fourth sub-deputy inspector in 1921.

The best known private institution in the district is the Gurukul Kangri in tahsil Najibabad which progresses steadily. It has now ten classes in the school section and four in the college department. Instruction is still imparted on ancient lines; the residential system attains and special efforts are made to maintain Brahmacharya. As the number of students rose considerably in 1916, the lower school classes were transferred to Delhi and 9th class students remained at the Gurukul. The medium of education is Hindi. The buildings were greatly damaged in the floods of 1924 and it is proposed to transfer the institution to Jawalapur.

Of the other private schools mentioned in the last report the Gopal Saran school at Bijaor is only nominally in existence; the others have made very little progress, except the George Anglo-Vedic Bishnoi School, Nagina, which has gone ahead. Its average attendance now is 70 and teaching is up to the middle standard. At Dhampur the Karori Mal Memorial English School was started in 1916 and has a good attendance. A new building is to be constructed for it outside the town. An English class has been recently opened in 1921 in the Sherkot Town school which teaches up to the VI standard.

The number of literates has risen in 1921 to be 23,940 from 22,483 in 1911. This is a small advance but in view of the decrease in population it is not very unsatisfactory. The number of literate males in 1921 was 54 per mille as against 47 in 1911, while among females it was 8 as compared with 6 in 1911. Literacy among Hindus has much improved during the decade and they are more advanced in this respect than the Muhammadans. Among Hindus 51 males per mille are recorded as literate as against 48 among Muslims. Among Hindus 6.6 per mille of the females are literate as against 6.8 among Muhammadans.

The education of depressed classes has now been taken up in 6 special schools opened for them under a scheme framed by Government; under it three scholarships of Rs. 6 per mensem are given to boys belonging to the depressed classes who study in the middle sections and who are willing to serve as teachers in depressed classes schools after completing the middle class course. A supervisor has also been employed specially to inspect such schools and to ascertain where new schools can be opened with advantage.

There are at present 14 schools of various kinds for the education of girls. Government and the Municipal and District

Boards have allotted ample funds for female education; but in general no great keenness is displayed by parents in availing themselves of these facilities.

23 — DISPENSARIES.

Owing to lack of funds it has not been feasible to open any new dispensary in this district since 1912. Nehtour and Afzalgarh badly need dispensaries.

Well-to-do persons are now charged for medicines under the scheme started in 1912—they do not appreciate the innovation.

A new maternity ward was opened at Bijnor in 1925 and a female hospital in Dhampur in March, 1926. These were both constructed from private subscriptions and are almost entirely maintained by private subscriptions operated by a Dufferin Committee of which the Civil Surgeon is ex-officio Secretary.

The District Board has taken over the entire management of Seohara and Kiratpur dispensaries.

24. TRAVELLING DISPENSARIES.

There are no permanent travelling dispensaries in the district.

25.—POUNDS.

Cattle pounds yield a good income to the District Board. During the decade, 17 new pounds were opened and two were abolished. There are now 36 pounds as compared with 21 in 1911.

The present income from pounds is Rs. 28,457, which is more than double the income in 1911.

26.—STALLIONS.

There is now only one horse stallion in the district at village Singha near Chandpur. It is reported to be useful. Two-thirds of the cost is borne by the District Board and one-third by the zamindar in charge.

No donkey stallion is now posted in the district.

Mule-breeding is carried on in Mandawar and Afzalgarh and in the low-lying portions of Dhampur as before.

27.—NEWSPAPERS.

Bijnor still continues to have a large number of periodicals issued here ; of those shown as existing in the last report, the Abla-hit-karak and Mualim-i-Am have ceased to exist. During the decade, many new ventures were made but failed. At present the following papers are published in the district :—

1. Bijnor District Gazette.—A fortnightly paper chiefly devoted to the promotion of co-operation with the Government ; essentially a paper with local interests. Circulation about 400.

2. Tohfa-i-Hind.—Bi-weekly ; has a circulation of about 350 and is owned by a local vakil. Uncertain tone. It is not usually extreme except in its zeal for Home Rule. A Hindu organ, which counters the local Mohammedan papers on occasion.

3. Medina.—Bi-weekly ; very extreme ; devoted much share to the Khilafat non-co-operation and the Turkish Peace Treaty. It has a big issue, chiefly in the Punjab.

4. Al-Khalil.—Bi-weekly ; sometimes extreme, now tends towards moderation. It is owned by a local Mukhtar and its circulation has gone down. Circulates chiefly in the Punjab.

5. Nijat.—Bi-weekly ; started in 1920 ; is well edited and owns a lithographic press of its own. Extreme at times.

6. Mansur.—Bi-weekly ; occasionally extremist in politics, at present mostly devoted to religious controversy.

Though Bijnor has so many local papers, they do not circulate much here and have little influence in forming local opinion. They circulate mostly in the Punjab.

28.—DISTRICT CO-OPERATIVE BANK.

The District Co-operative Bank started in 1914 is now a very flourishing concern run on conservative and safe lines. In the year 1921-22, the number of working societies under it reached 142. Two guaranteeing unions at Mustafabad and Puraini have been established which are working satisfactorily. Four branch treasuries have been opened at different suitable places to facilitate the monetary transactions of the societies. About 35 societies have become self-supporting and borrow very seldom from the bank ; and all the branch treasuries and societies are doing well.

The promoters of the bank now pay more attention to the consolidation of existing societies than to the opening of new ones.

Its working capital in 1921-22 is Rs. 1,15,783 which is made up of the following items :—

					Rs.
Share capital	55,817
Deposits	53,250
Reserve fund, etc.	6,716
Total					1,15,783

It is noteworthy that practically all the deposits are local at rates of interest varying from 5 to 7 per cent. per annum according to the period of the deposit.

The directorate with the district officer as its chairman is a live body and keen on the work.

Great care is taken in advancing loans to societies and therefore to members and to keep the outstanding balance as low as possible.

29.—PANCHAYATS.

In this district, panchayats under the Village Panchayats Act VI of 1920 were introduced in 1921; at the end of September 1921, there were 141.

The jurisdiction of the panchayats has been fixed so as not to clash with the jurisdiction of such village munsiffs as were working well. The panches were appointed after consultation in the villages as to the best persons available and few complaints have been raised as to their capacity. Villages where there were factions were left out as unsuitable. Government is considering proposals for introducing the elective principle in these panchayats.

All the panchayats in this district are self-supporting.

They are performing good work in most cases and deal with petty criminal and civil cases more promptly than is possible with the stipendiary staff. At present they are in the experimental stage and more experience is required before their numbers are greatly increased.

30.—MISCELLANEOUS.Treasury.

The treasury has been transferred to the control of the Deputy Controller of Currency since 1921, vide Accountant-General's letter no. Res. /36, dated July 27, 1921.

Post Offices.

During the decade, Shampur sub-post office and Kot Kadir branch post office were abolished, while a sub-office at Gurukul Kangri and a branch office at Chandok were opened.

The district is on the whole well served in postal matters.

The experiment has, however, since proved a failure and the bank is now under liquidation.

Mr. Badhwar had established a spinning mill in Ujhani to which has now been added a weaving section. The prosperity of Ujhani is, to a great extent due to this mill.

Add at end of the paragraph "occupations"—

The census of 1911 disclosed a further slight increase of population of about 23,000 only. The total population was 1,053,328 out of which 475,767 were females. This gives a percentage of 82·7 females to every 100 males, as compared with 85·4 in 1901.

The total number of towns and villages was 1,818, out of which 1,526 had a population of less than 1,000 persons; while 212 contained less than 5,000. Bisauli which had over 5,000 inhabitants in 1901, had only 4,744 in 1911.

Classified according to religions the population comprised 8,59,685 Hindus, 5,631 Aryas, 1,76,376 Muhammadans, and 11,298 Christians. The respective percentages to the total population being 81·62, 53,16·74, and 1·07. The Hindus thus lost, while the other religions had appreciably increased, particularly the Aryas and Christians who have nearly doubled their numbers.

The jails numbered 198 only, out of which 138 belonged to Bilsī. The number of Shiks fell from 599 to 138.

The Ahars numbered 1,45,927, about 2,000 more than in 1901. Probably the increase was greater, for we find that the Ahirs, who numbered only 2,816 in 1901, were returned as numbering 20,289 in 1911. Obviously many Ahars have been confounded with Ahirs.

Of the other Hindu castes, there were 147,996 Chamars, 95,350 Muraos, and 5,982 Kachhis, all showing an appreciable increase over the figures of 1901.

The Rajputs numbered 61,470 or about a thousand less than in 1901. Some of the sub-clans show an increase e.g., Chauhan Katehrias, and Rathors. The Gaurs, Tomars and Bargujars are stationary; while the Bais, Gautams, and Bachhils show a decrease.

The figures for Bais 2,445 against 6,114 in 1901, and for Rathors 3,703 against 2,307 are certainly wrong, showing as they do a decrease of 75 per cent and an increase of 50 per cent. respectively. The Chaubans also show an unusually high rate of increase, numbering 7,506 against 6,499 in 1901. It is well known that the disparity between the sexes is particularly great among the Rajputs, and the fact is fully borne out by the figures of the 1911 census. Only the Bais have 1,053 males and 1,392 females, but their enumeration, as we have observed, is certainly faulty.

The Brahmans numbered 54,930, as against 60,938 in 1901, that is, they have lost nearly 10 per cent. The Banias were 20,288, or 40 per cent. less than in 1901. Among other castes important from the point of view of numbers, the Kahars and Gadarias show an appreciable increase; while the Kisans show a decrease. Similarly the Kayasthas, who were more than 10,000 in 1901, numbered only 9,178.

Among Muhammadans the Sheikhs lost rather heavily, numbering only 35,149 against 42,720 in 1901. Perhaps many Sheikhs returned themselves as Pathans whose numbers rose from 29,023 to 37,038 in 1901. The Saiyids remain practically stationary. All the converted castes showed some increase, but the Rajputs numbered only 2,403 against 5,265 in 1901. It is not clear where the fall is due to any relapses into Hinduism.

In 1911, the proportion of the population depending on agriculture had fallen to 63·7 per cent., that of the industrial class to 12·5 per cent., and of the commercial population had risen to 4·5 per cent. as against 1·87 per cent. in 1901.

The outstanding feature of the recent census of 1921 is the great fall in population due to the influenza epidemic. The total population was 9,75,347, that is, nearly 78,000 less than in 1911. The density decreased from 524 to 484·3 per square mile. The epidemic seems to have been uneven in its incidence for the proportion of females to every hundred males increased from 82·7 to 84·8.

The total number of towns and villages was 1,857, an increase of ten on 1911. Those with less than 1,000 inhabitants were 1,669, while only 178 had less than 5,000 inhabitants as against 212 in 1911. The rise of Ujhani calls for special notice. In 1911 it had less than 10,000 inhabitants and was an ordinary small town. It has now over 10,000 inhabitants and is bound to outstrip Sahaswan as the second largest town in the district.

The Hindus now number 790,382 or 81·04 per cent. of the population. The other religions, however, as usual show an increase, the Muhammadans, Christians, and Aryas being 17·02, 1·35 and ·53 per cent. respectively, of the population. Neither the Christians nor the Aryas have, however, been able to maintain their previous rate of increase. The Aryas numbered 5,699, and the Christians 13,136 in 1921 as against 5,631 and 11,298 in 1911.

If the figures for jains are correct there were in 1921 only 92 Jains as against 197 in 1911; while Bilsa which, was a stronghold of Jain commercial families, returned no Jains in 1921.

There were only 10 Sikhs as against 138 in 1911. Probably most of them came here in connection with Government or private service.

The Ahars and Ahirs numbered 159,388 and 4,581, respectively, as against 145,927 and 20,289 in 1911. It is obvious the returns were not correctly made. The Chamars, Kachhis, Muraos have lost rather heavily. The Rajputs also have lost as a whole, their total numbers being 59,342 as against 61,470 in 1921. The figures for the different clans do not seem to be correct, for all the principal clans e.g., Chauhan, Bais, Gaur, Katehrias, Gautams, Tomars, Bachils, and Rathors show an increase from 7,505, 2,415, 5,190, 4,848, 3,503, 3,394, 2,343 and 3,703 to 7,971, 3,776, 6,122, 6,219, 3,665, 5,269, 3,942 and 5,085, respectively.

The increase again in the case of Bais, Gaur, Katehrias, Tomars, Bachhils, and Rathors is extraordinarily high. It is not reasonable to suppose that all the loss in the Rajput population was confined to the more obscure of their clans.

The Kahars, Gadarias, and Lodhas show a reasonable decrease; only the Kisans who lost in the previous decade rather heavily have remained stationary. Among other Hindu castes mention may be made of the Kayasthas, who show a slight increase.

Among the Muhammadans the Sheikhs remain practically stationary, while Pathans number 35,531 against 37,078 in 1911. The Rajput Muhammadans show a further decrease from 2,403 to 1,640. The other converted Muhammadan castes are either stationary or show a slight decrease.

The Saiyids numbered 3,260 or about 200 less than in 1911. The other Muhammadan castes call for no special notice.

The proportion of the population directly supported by agriculture rose to 74.3 reflecting the general movement of the population back to the land all over the province. The industrial class accounted for 13.6 per cent. of the population, which is slightly higher than that in 1911. The proportion of the commercial population is practically the same as in 1911.

Paragraph 1, line 6, for the sentence beginning with "there is a bench, etc.," substitute:—

The number of honorary courts has very much increased in recent years. Now there are five benches of honorary magistrates at Budaun, Ujhani, Gura, Bisauli, and Bhatauli, four special magistrates of first class and five of the second.

Add at the end of this paragraph:—

Since 1906 there were numerous changes in the number and jurisdictions of Munsifi circles, till in 1921 there were 31 circles comprising 522 villages. The village munsifs have, on the whole, worked fairly well, but it is unlikely that there will be any progress. The probabilities are that these circles will gradually disappear, as Panchayats with both civil and criminal powers are established under the recent Village Panchayat Act. "

Page 114.

Line 3 add at the end of the paragraph :—

" The new scheme of redistribution has long since been carried out, only the thana of Wazirganj has not yet been shifted to Saidpur. "

Page 115.

Police force Add at the end of paragraph :—

" In 1921 the Police Force comprised 119 men of all ranks in the armed police, and 41 sub-inspectors, 43 head constables, and 457 constables of the regular civil police, including the force employed for beat duties in the municipal towns of Budaun, Ujhani, and Sahaswan.

" The town areas no longer keep a separate force of town Chowkidars, the beat duties in such towns being also done by the regular civil police. There are no road Chowkidars now, and the number of village Chowkidars, which had greatly increased, was again reduced and now stands at 1,998.

Paragraph 1.—Crime. add at the end of paragraph after " were convicted "

" The figurers of crime (Tables VII and XVIII) since 1906 call for no particular comment. Budaun still retains its unenviable reputation for crime and turbulence. The year 1919 was particularly bad with 100 dacoities though the number of cases investigated has greatly increased ; the number sent up for trial shows little variation.

End of paragraph Excise add :—

"Since 1906 there have been a continuous increase in excise revenue till in 1921 the receipts under country spirit have exactly doubled and this in spite of an appreciable fall in consumption. The receipts under Tari drug and opium have fluctuated a great deal. 1921 was the last year in which the old auction system was in force. Since 1922 graduated surcharge system has been introduced with the object of reducing consumption.

Registration 61, line 4, for "The Registrar of the district is the Judge etc." substitute and "after Shahjahanpur judgeship" add this new sentence :—

"The District Judge Budaun is now the Registrar."

Page 121.

Paragraph Registration add at the end of paragraph :—

"The income has greatly increased since 1913, and the average for the nine years 1,913-21 was nearly Rs. 24,000, the amount for 1921 being Rs. 36,335."

Page 122.

Add at the end of paragraph "Stamps" :—

"The income under all heads of stamps is continuously increasing, specially since 1913, in which year a separate Judgeship was established at Budaun. The decrease in 1918-19 was due to scarcity."

Income tax add at the end of paragraph :—

"There has been no very great increase in the receipts under this head. The large receipts in 1916-20 were probably due to the large profits made owing to the then prevailing high prices. Since 1919 incomes under Rs. 2,000 have been exempted. It should be mentioned that the District Officer has no longer any thing to do with the assessment of this tax, a duty now performed by Income-tax Officers. This district is included in the circle of the Income-tax Officer, Bareilly.

Paragraph education.—Add at end of paragraph :—

" As the figures in table XVIII will show the number of primary schools has increased by nearly 50 per cent. during the last 10 years. The number of male scholars has appreciably increased, while that of girls is practically stationary. The number of secondary schools remains at 10, and the number of scholars undergoing secondary education has unaccountably fallen since 1917. There are no girls in the secondary schools. "

Page 128.

Paragraph Library—Add at end of this paragraph :—

" There has been some progress in education since 1901, as disclosed by the figures of the census of 1911 and 1921.

In 1911 the percentage of literate persons in the case of males was 3.3 and 4 in the case of females, the figures for 1921 being 3.7 and 5, respectively. The Muhammadans are still ahead of Hindus, the figures for Hindus in 1911 being 2.8 for males and 3 for females, and 3.6 and 5 in 1921, while for Muhammadans the figures are 4.9 for males and 7 for females in 1911, and 5.9 and 7, respectively in 1921. It is noticeable that the education of females among Muhammadans has made no proportionate progress.

B. Volume, paragraph 2, after the sentence ending ' Act XII of 1884 ' add the following :—

" Budaun next suffered from scarcity in 1918 when there was a failure of the monsoon. No famine or scarcity was actually declared, but relief operations were undertaken on a small scale. The Sahaswan-Bisouli and Miao-Gauntra roads were opened as District Board works, and later work was started on six tanks as aided works, three in pargana Satasi, two in Budaun, and one in Dataganj.

Gratuitous relief was confined to pargana Budaun, Satasi and the whole of tahsil Dataganj.

The operations began on May 26 and closed on July 28.

The cost of the aided works amounted to Rs. 3,340, while Rs. 2,821-8-6 was distributed as gratuitous relief, the cost of relief per unit in case of aided works being Re. 0-2-8, and Re. 0-1-4 in case of gratuitous relief.

The two District Board works were not utilized as test works though test conditions were imposed practically to see what distress existed.

In June 1921, a heavy rainstorm lasting for three days caused the Sot river to come down in heavy flood. Near Amroha a bridge over this river carries the Moradabad-Delhi branch of the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway. The Sot which drains a very large and ill-defined basin came down in heavy flood, under scouring the foundations of the bridge piers. The bridge must have been on the verge of collapse when at 4 a.m. on the morning of the 25th June the Delhi passenger train left Amroha and crashed through the tottering bridge into the flood. The engine and six coaches went down, but the couplings breaking, the rear portion of the train was saved. Forty lives were lost and 30 persons were injured. Sixty-seven people were rescued, Multan Singh, a police constable of the Amroha thana, showing especial bravery. The road bridge, a few miles down stream, was also carried away.

The Ramganga was also in high flood at the same and many cattle and a few human lives were lost.

In 1922, floods again occurred, but though Amroha itself was 4 feet under water, the temporary bridges on the river withstood all attacks. Near Moradabad, the Kashipur branch of the Rohilkhand and Kumaun Railway was breached, while spinning and Weaving Mills siding was washed away. The total rainfall was in considerable excess this year in the low-lying tracts, the kharif crops were seriously damaged, while the sowing of rabi was greatly delayed, with the result that the wheat crop did not come to full maturity.

Relapsing fever in that year caused more deaths than either plague or cholera. The total mortality was 63,737 against 47,000 in the previous year and 43,000 in 1915-16."

Page 26, line 11.

For "a municipal grant" read "grants made by the local and neighbouring municipalities including Bareilly and by the District Board," and add after "mission," the total income of the Leper Asylum during the year ending 30th September, 1922, was Rs. 2,926. There is a committee of six including the Collector as Chairman. The expenditure for the same year was Rs. 2,738. There were eighteen lepers segregated and fed in the Asylum on a diet allowance of annas four per diem. They are also clothed and medically treated.

"In 1914-15, the cultivated area was 1,120,484 acres, in 1918-19 drought reduced it to 934,713 acres, and in 1921-22 the area was 1,077,337—a drop of almost exactly 4,000 acres on the settlement figures.

At foot of page , add

The double-cropped area was 163,074 acres or 15 per cent of the total cultivated area.

Page 37, of revised volume A.

Delete paragraph re Sarda canal which will not come into this district.

Two or three tube wells are being dug in the Bilari tahsil.

Page 45, line 35—FAMINE.

There was no rain after 7th September, 1913, and the effect of this was actually felt in Sambhal and Bilari tahsils owing to two consecutive bad harvests. About 8½ per cent loss in cattle was estimated. Rupees 2,55,588 of the kharif revenue and Rupees 1,68,192 of the rabi revenue were suspended, while Rupees 1,23,383 of the rabi demand was remitted.

There was again a very scanty rainfall in 1918, except in the Thakurdwara tahsil. On top of the drought came the scourge of influenza which entirely dislocated agricultural operations. The general estimate of the crops was 6 annas on an area of 42,060 acres less than that sown in the previous kharif. The holding off of the winter rains made matters worse, but there was a good fall averaging 4.33 inches for the whole district which made an immediate difference to the situation. The estimated loss of cattle alone by sale or by death from lack of fodder was 2,000. Forest hay was received from Pilibhit but it proved too coarse and cattle would not eat it. Gratuitous relief was organized and famine works were carried out. In addition, the following suspensions were granted:—

	Rs.
Revenue of previous kharif suspended ...	5,33,014
Revenue of kharif suspended ...	4,50,830
Revenue of rabi „ ...	1,72,508

and finally, in the two tahsils, which were affected most, viz., Sambhal and Bilari, 1,41,968 and 71,231 respectively were remitted.

Page 47, line 28.—PRICES.

The average annual prices in rupees and decimals of a rupee per maund are given below for 1916—20:—

Commodities.	1916.	1917.	1918.	1919.	1920.
Wheat ..	4.073	4.224	5.587	6.814	6.043

Commodities.	1916.	1917	1918.	1919.	1920.
Rice ..	4'587	4'484	5'682	7'619	8'689

Salt ..	2'33	2'805	3'306	3'021	3'123

In common with the rest of the world the effects of the war were felt in the high prices of different commodities in general use among the people and made living very difficult. But the prices have been more favourable since 1921-22. In May, 1921, the prices were wheat 6'2; barley 9'6; gram 6'14; dal arhar 5'2; while in 1920 wheat sold at one time at 4 seers 7 chatacks to the rupee and Government made advances to the municipal boards and town areas for opening shops for the sale of grain to poor people below the market rate. Prices broke in 1921 and during the latter part of that year all grains were considerably cheaper than they had been at the harvest.

"The Allahabad Bank, Ltd., and Tata Bank have opened branches at Chandausi."

"The Co-operative Bank has a paid-up share capital of Rs. 56,665, which, together with the reserve fund is one-third of the total working capital of Rs. 3,42,577. The total profits for the year 1922 amounted to Rs. 49,433."

and delete "In addition . . . rapid expansion."

For "unfortunately . . . craft" substitute "Brass trade."

During the past ten years the brass trade at Moradabad has been flourishing on the whole, but there are certain disturbing factors, labour, though very highly paid, is somewhat scarce or perhaps unwilling to work for longer hours than necessary to produce a comfortable income. The masters are apt to compete with each other by bribing each other's workmen by means of advances. The workmen are reckless in the extreme and lightly desert one master for another in order to secure another advance. The result is a certain amount of bitterness among the masters, and exaggerated self-appreciation and demoralization among the workmen. Prices rise for the consumer in consequence and the upshot of it all is that the cost of the finest work is becoming prohibitive and craftsmanship is very much on the downward grade. It would be for the good of the trade in the long run if the masters could agree not to poach each other's labour and to fix a fair scale of wages.

Page 55, line 5.—UNDER "OTHER INDUSTRIES."

The United Provinces Glass Works at Bahjoi with a capital of about 4 lakhs turns out considerable quantities of glass utensils of a cheap quality and has recently installed plant for the production of plate glass.

The Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition which used to be held in conjunction with the Tigri bathing fair was discontinued and in its place the District Exhibition was started in Moradabad in February, 1921, and should, if properly handled, assist in the development of local industries.

Page 59, line 26.

For "70" read "91".

. Line 28.

After "Hasanpur" add—

"The metalling of the Moradabad-Chandausi road was completed in 1920—a length of 23 miles 6 furlongs. The condition of the Sambhal road which usually suffers from being on a low level is appalling. It has been further damaged by motor lorries which have only recently stopped since the re-opening of the Sambhal railway. The problem of keeping up roads on which motor lorries run is becoming serious everywhere and a licence fee proportionate to the damage done ought properly to be levied."

After "Sambhal" insert "Amroha."

Page 61, line 10.

After "Rs. 14,114" add—

"The income from ferries in 1920-21 was Rs. 16,629."

Page 66, line 5, add

"The total rose in 1911 to 1,263,149 souls, of whom 675,305 were males and 587,844 females. At the census of 1921 the population according to the provisional figures sent from the district was 1,199,205, of whom 638,821 were males and 560,384 females. The decrease of 63,944 was due chiefly to the terrible havoc caused by the influenza epidemic of 1918. The following table shows the comparative populations of the principal towns in the district from which it appears that Moradabad and Chandausi are the only two progressive towns in the district:—

			1911.	1921.
Moradabad city	81,168	82,718
Sambhal	45,276	42,089
Amroha	42,410	40,449

Page 66.—TOWNS AND VILLAGES.

In 1920 the district was composed of 2,930 villages; Mauza Bastaura Rani was transferred from the Meerut district owing to an alteration in the course of the Ganges deep stream.

The Haburahs give comparatively little trouble. The crimes they chiefly affect are theft and burglary; the latter being facilitated by the fact that many of them are employed as chaukidars and grass-cutters. Another tribe, the Doms, also supplies sweepers to people living in the Civil Lines and railway quarters, and these people too are apt to utilize for evil purposes the opportunities which their employment offers. The Bhandus have been a great disappointment. For their adherence to crime apart from inherited propensity, a tribal custom which denies a young man a bride until he can present her father with Rs. 600 is very largely responsible.

New settlements collectively called Fazalpur have been erected near Moradabad for various tribes. To these are SHAHJAHANPUR DISTRICT.

ALLAHABAD:
THE SUPERINTENDENT, GOVERNMENT PRESS, UNITED PROVINCES
1928

Alterations and additions to Part A of the Shahjahanpur District Gazetteer that took place during the period 1912—21.

CHAPTER I.

Page 5.—THE BANKATI.

The estates of old Rajput land holders who had managed to maintain their ground with fair success, are heavily encumbered with debts.

Page 9.—THE GARRA.

A pacca bridge across the Garra on the Shahjahanpur-Jalalabad road was completed in 1915. One of the piers burst owing to heavy floods in the rainy season of that year. The bridge is now again open to traffic.

Page 13.—LAKES AND JHILS (LINE 8).

There are no jhils of any great size in the Jalalabad tahsil except the Patwa jhil half of which lies in the Budaun district.

Page 13.—(LINE 25 AND 26).

Add after Khutar, "and also another lake at Luktaha".
Add after 310 acres, "and also another large one at Udra Tikri near Nahil". Read "Aayun " instead of "Aun".

Page 22.—CATTLE DISEASE.

The veterinary assistants were raised to four in 1920. There is now one veterinary assistant in each tahsil.

Page 28.—OTHER DISEASES (IN THE END OF THE PARAGRAPH add).

In the autumn of 1918, influenza took a heavy toll of life. The epidemic prevailed at an unprecedented scale and so suddenly that little could be done in the way of prevention.

CHAPTER II.

There was scarcity again in 1914 owing to the failure of the monsoon of 1913. Its effect was most noticeable in the parganas of Katra, Khara Bajhera and in some other part of tahsil Tilhar, adjacent to Jalalabad. The area of the above was about 500 square miles and the population, 250,000. Gratuitous relief aggregating Rs. 15,754-12-0 was distributed since March 12, 1914, and two roads, Katra-Khudaganj and Jalalabad-Paraur, were expanded at a cost of Rs. 6,960 and Rs. 4,474, respectively. The number of workers on May 16, 1914 was 2,518 and the number of dole receivers on June 13, 1914, was 2,787.

Again in 1918 the district narrowly escaped famine. There was a general failure of rains and the kharif crops. Prices went up abnormally. The situation was becoming grave when large distributions of takavi put heart into the people and the timely winter rains saved the rabi crop. The parganas of Jalalabad, Jamaur, Khera Bajhera and Baragaon were much effected, Rs. 13,20,000 were distributed for rabi and sugarcane. Private charity was organized into funds for regular gratuitous relief. The decline in rabi area was not only due to drought. Many of the tenants could not sow the full area due to the effects of influenza epidemic.

Page 52.—WAGES.

Wages have risen very high. The wages of field labourer range from 6 to 8 annas per diem while those of a carpenter and a mason vary from Rs. 20 to Rs. 30 per mensem. The sudden rise is due to the Great War and high prices of cloth and grain. The condition of the labourer is much better than a decade before. The wages in the city and other centres of commerce are high still.

Page 57.—OTHER INDUSTRIES.

Tyler Weaving School, silk factories, Baib-matting similar to that prepared at Kheri and Sitapur is prepared also at the jail at Shahjahanpur.

Page 60.—FAIRS.

(Dhaighat fair).—Not less than one lac persons ordinarily.

Page 63.—RAILWAY.

(Broad-gauge line from the station to Bahadurganj and Carewganj)—completed in 1916.

(Broad-gauge line from Rosa to Budaun on the west) indefinitely postponed.

Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway has sidings into Bahadurganj and Bholaganj. These are very useful.

Pawayan Steam Tramway was dismantled in July, 1918 and transported to Mesopotamia.

The Shahabad road metalling was completed in 1915. Muhammdi road completed (1916), but 20 miles outside district to Kheri remain.

Page 65.—BRIDGES (BRIDGE AT RAJGHAT).

Completed before rains 1915, but work re-started on one pier that was underserved and settled in September, 1915. Finally opened on March 1, 1916. Training works to divert river to eastern side completed in June, 1916.

VOLUME XVIII.

PILIBHIT DISTRICT.

ALLAHABAD

1928

Price 8 as.

Notes for supplementing A volume in the District Gazetteer, Pilibhit district, to form part of C volume drawn up under G. O. no. 6057/I.A.,--557, dated December 16, 1925.

Page 1.

The boundaries between Nepal and Pilibhit were realigned in 1916 by a committee consisting of officers of the British and the Nepalese Governments. The result was that an area comprising 603 square miles was transferred from Pilibhit district in exchange for 806 square miles transferred from Nepal territories.

Page 7.

Tanakpur is now in the Naini Tal district.

Page 8.

Mundia Ghat was really "Mundia-Kat" which has been corrupted into "ghat." The name was given owing to the fact that at this spot a number of prisoners captured in a foray during the mutiny were executed on the bank of the river their heads falling into the water.

Pages 12 and 13.

During the last few years the river has gradually inclined towards the town of Pilibhit. A portion of the Company Bagh was cut away by the river in 1921. The floods of 1922 were still more damaging and swept away a considerable part of muhalla Panjabian, rendering several families homeless. Public charity however came to their rescue : subscriptions were collected, a plot of land was acquired and new houses were built for the sufferers.

To guard the town against further encroachments, temporary protective works were constructed at the most dangerous points both in 1921 and 1922. But as the safety of the whole town is in danger, the Municipal Board is contemplating the erection of a "permanent bandh," which is roughly estimated to cost Rs. 2,70,000. Unless Government help is forthcoming, however, the Board will not be able to carry out the entire scheme.

Page 20.—RIGHTS.

The Puranpur villages are entitled under the latest working plan (1922) to graze 20,000 head of cattle free of charge.

Page 25.—FAUNA.

"Sambhar" are now fairly plentiful: four horned deer are rare but hyaenas and wild cats are common. Wolves are numerous and are killed by professional shikaris in appreciable numbers for the sake of the reward of ten rupees per head.

Page 26.—BIRDS.

Spur fowls and swamp partridges are also found. Sand grouse on the other hand are practically never seen.

Meranser are occasionally found on the Sarda river.

After the cattle census of 1904, subsequent quinquennial enumerations took place in 1909, 1915 and 1920. The statistics of 1920 show a considerable falling off in the number of cattle of all kinds except cow-buffaloes, the number of bulls and bullocks having fallen from 112,545 to 96,759, "cows" decreasing correspondingly from 85,513 to 74,455. Owing to the scarcity of fodder during 1918-19 many tenants had to dispose of their cattle. Even well-to-do people could not afford to keep surplus stock. Sheep also decreased from 12,381 to 9,729, but the most abnormal drop took place under "goats" from 112,645 to 24,759. For the wholesale slaughter of goats, the great European War was responsible, many goats having been utilized for army needs.

At the time of enumeration in 1920 the number of cow-buffaloes was as high as 23,607 due to the influx into the rich pasturage of the Puranpur forests of cattle from the neighbouring districts where there was scarcity of fodder.

Page 29.—CATTLE DISEASE.

Cattle disease is now being checked by opening up veterinary hospitals. The prejudice against inoculation is also dying out though slowly.

Page 52.—OTHER CROPS.

Oats are not grown in any appreciable quantity in Puranpur. The 'jai' grown in Puranpur is inferior barley and not oats.

Page 57.—PRESENT CANALS.

At present Canal irrigation is confined to pargana Jahanabad in Pilibhit tahsil. But the new Sarda Canal, the construction of which is in progress will irrigate the whole of the district. Up to the end of September, 1922, 10·08 acres of land had been acquired for that purpose and Rs. 488-15-5 paid in compensation.

Page 65 of the Gazetteer and page 2 of the supplementary notes, volume XIII.

Owing to the scarcity of rain the kharif crops of 1913 were poor and the important rice crop practically a failure. The tenants were consequently disheartened and short of money. The preservation of the rabi crop was the first thing to look to, and to ensure it takavi for seed and kachcha wells was distributed on a liberal scale.

Sugarcane also an important crop of the district was similarly protected by large advances for seed, kachcha wells and plough cattle. The advances were fully justified by the unusually large area which was brought under sugarcane.

1918-19—SCARCITY.

Owing to the inadequate rains of 1918, the kharif crops were very poor, and it became necessary to ensure the forthcoming rabi by a liberal distribution of takavi. The total amount so distributed came to Rs. 2,25,850 for seed and kachcha wells. These measures enabled a fairly large area to be sown with rabi crops. The beneficial effects were most marked in the case of the sugarcane crop. But for the takavi, the area under cane, would have been insignificant and the district would not have recovered so rapidly from the effect of the drought. To assist the zamindars of affected villages, suspension of land revenue aggregating Rs. 11,775 and remission amounting to Rs. 10,293 were also sanctioned.

Page 66—68.—PRICES.

Since the last revision of the gazetteer, the prices of food grains have risen considerably. At the end of March, 1921, they were as below :—

					To the rupee.
					Srs.	Obs.
Wheat	7	2
Barley	10	8
Rice (best quality)	2	8
Rice (common)..	5	14
Gram	7	14
Dal arhar	5	6

Prices rose still higher and at times wheat was selling at 4½ and common rice at 4½ seers to a rupee.

To ease the situation, cheap grain shops were opened in the Municipalities of Pilibhit and Bisalpur and the town area of Puranpur. At these shops, grain was sold to all persons earning an income of less than Rs. 30 per mensem.

Half the net cost entailed by the opening of these shops was borne by Government and half by private subscriptions and contributions from municipal funds.

Pages 68 and 69.—WAGES.

Following the rise in prices of food grains, wages have also risen considerably. The average wage of a carpenter, blacksmith or mason vary from 12 to 16 annas.

Pages 71 and 72.—VILLAGE BANKS.

Village Banks have not succeeded. All the banks that existed at the time of last revision of the district gazetteer have now ceased to exist owing mainly to the lack of interest shown by the members of the credit societies.

Page 72.—MANUFACTURE.

Side by side with their sugar factory which is one of the most up-to-date factories in India, Raja Lalta Prasad, Rai Bahadur, O.B.E., and his brother Sahu Har Prasad, Rai Bahadur, have opened oil mill fitted with modern machinery.

Page 77 and 78.—ROADS.

Since the last revision of the gazetteer, the following roads have been metalled :—

Pilibhit-Neoria	11 miles.
Pilibhit-Jahanabad	7 "
Bisalpur-Bilsanda	11 "

A project for metalling the Pilibhit-Bisalpur kachcha road has been sanctioned at a cost of Rs. 2,55,092 and the work is being executed.

A new metalled road was constructed in 1915 between the Pilibhit Railway station and the Katcheri which shortened the distance between the two places by more than half a mile. It is called "Dewar road" after the name of the then Collector Mr. D. Dewar, I.C.S.

Page 84.—CENSUS OF 1921.

Census of 1921. The population of the district during the decade fell by 56,016, by 27,078 in Pilibhit tahsil, by 17,445 in Bisalpur and by 11,493 in Puranpur tahsil.

Page 85.—TOWNS AND VILLAGES.

The towns of Neoria, Jahanabad, Bilsanda are now administered under the Town Area Act which has been applied also to Puranpur.

Page 98.

The Parao land which had been leased to Rev. O. Lawson was sold to him in 1908 for Rs. 2,500 on condition that it is used solely for mission purposes.

Page 127.

The assessment of land revenue of tahsil Pilibhit was revised in 1915 and resulted in a net increase of Rs. 54,714-13-4.

The prominent feature of this revision was the commutation of grain rents into cash rents which led to much litigation between landlords and their tenants, the former resisting the commutation while the latter insisted on it. Feelings which ran high between the parties for some time have now abated.

Another noticeable feature is that the saharai villages which formerly used to be assessed annually are now assessed quinquennially.

The revision of assessment of the Puranpur tahsil has been postponed for fifteen years.

Pages 133 and 134.—EXCISE.

The contract supply system of liquor which was introduced in 1909 remained in force throughout the decennium. The bonded ware-houses at Bisalpur and Puranpur were however converted into whole-sale dépôts. The bonded ware-house at Pilibhit is now in charge of a single Excise Inspector who is attached to the Bareilly district and comes here only on issue days, while preventive duties are looked after by another inspector who is attached to the district.

The surcharge system of Bengal has been introduced into the district since 1st. April, 1922, under which licences for the sale of excisable articles are granted to persons by selection and not by public auction. The result is a considerable reduction in licence fees.

Page 137.—REGISTRATION.

The Sub-Judge of Pilibhit has now been appointed the District Registrar of Pilibhit.

Pages 137 and 38--INCOME-TAX.

The law and procedure relating to income-tax has been profoundly modified. The department has been placed in charge of the Income-tax Commissioner, who is assisted by Assistant Income-tax Commissioners and Income-tax officers, the latter being in charge of a district or group of district. Under the new Act incomes below Rs. 2,000 are exempt from the tax. The Income-tax Officer of Pilibhit is also the Income-tax Officer of Shahjahanpur and has his headquarters at the latter place. The District Officer and his staff have been entirely relieved of assessment work.

Pages 138 and 139.

A combined Post and Telegraph office has been opened at the Katcheri.

Page 139.

The tax on circumstances and property which was substituted for "Octroi" in the Bisalpur Municipality in 1914 is unpopular and its replacement by "Terminal Tax" has been voted by the Municipal Board.

Act XX of 1856 which was in force in the towns of Neoria, Jahanabad and Bilsanda was superseded by the Town Area Act, II of 1914, which has been applied to the town of Puranpur with effect from April 1, 1922.

The Tahsildars have been appointed Town Magistrates and the Administration of the towns is under their supervision.

Page 167.

Religious rioting again occurred at the Moharram of 1920, when the Musalmans attacked a Hindu temple known as the Permit Mandir alleging that music was being played. Fire was opened on the rioters one of whom was killed. The situation became so grave that the Commissioner's presence was required, but on the arrival of British troops from Bareilly, order was restored. Since then, however, religious festivals at Pilibhit have been attended with more than ordinary difficulty, and danger.

Non-co-operation.

The attempt to introduce immediate Home Rule into India by Mr. Gandhi's method of "Non-co-operation" found a number of ardent supporters in Pilibhit. Branches of the Congress and Khilafat societies were founded in 1921. The movement became menacing early in 1922 but was crushed in a month, thirty of the leaders being arrested and imprisoned and their unauthorized processions being driven off the streets. A few arrests in Bisalpur and Puranpur pacified the country side. The Congress office at Pilibhit which was the headquarters of the "Volunteers" organization was raided when the Local Government declared such societies illegal. Thereafter the "Volunteers", generally known as "Gandhi's army" ceased to be a menace to the public peace. The "National School" which had been opened by the non-co-operators in pursuance of their boycott of Government schools speedily languished and died. When Mr. Gandhi was convicted in 1922, the news was received in the district without the slightest excitement, so discredited was the movement locally.

A dispensary has been opened at Madho Tanda and the founder Musammat Sunder Koer has dedicated landed property yielding Rs. 350 a year to defray the expenses. Musammat Sunder Koer died in 1917 and her property has now been split up among the other co-sharers.

Page 225.

A veterinary hospital has been opened at Puranpur and the town is now administered under the Town Area Act.

Page 230.

In Puranpur pargana, the question of rent is complicated by the many irregular dues paid by the tenants in addition to rent.

Page 234.

There is now a Bench of Honorary Magistrates at Puranpur. For administrative purposes, Puranpur tahsil has been combined with Pilibhit which together form Pilibhit sub-division in charge of one full powered officer.

Mauza Raseon Khanpur.—The duty of damming the Rapatua is not always carried out by the present zamindar. Owing to quarrels among the various members of his family, the construction of the bandh is occasionally omitted.

Sherpur Kalan.—Bala Khan has died. His sons Zahur Uddin Khan and Zahir Uddin Khan are his heirs.
